

Retail Business Services

CIO Paul Scorza Shares Thoughts on What's in Store for Grocery Retail IT

July 2, 2018

“

Today, IT organizations
can hardly deliver
solutions fast enough.
Grocery retailers are clamoring for new technologies to be
first to market with innovative consumer
experiences

Retail Business Services EVP, IT and Chief Information Officer (CIO) Paul Scorza recently shared his thoughts on what's in store for grocery retail IT with Xplorex IT magazine for its retail special edition, published in July.

In the article, Scorza shares that the proliferation of Cloud-based solutions has brought a complexity to grocery retail IT that requires a new and advanced set of skills.

Read the article here for insights into how the IT team at Retail Business Services is building a bench of IT talent able to integrate a variety of solutions into a seamless experience for the customer.